

Temporary conference rooms

Organisers of large international congresses need to have enough adequately sized rooms. If these are not available, temporary conference rooms are an elegant solution. They can be realised in trade fair centres, for example, supplemented by further innovative congress services from N&M.

N&M has put together an extensive package of all-round solutions for temporary conference rooms aimed at meeting experts and professional congress organisers. The package is based on the special requirements demanded by clients in the congress business.

Besides construction, the focus is on innovative technological aspects: modern sound systems control the dispersion pattern so that sound transmission between rooms is minimised. Projectors are equipped with quiet fans, thus reliably ensuring the perfect display of presentations without annoying incidental noise.

To meet the needs of specific target groups, N&M supplements its portfolio for temporary conference rooms, conferencing equipment and event technology with special tools from event IT such as come2present and come2interact.
