

MediaLab

The N&M MediaLab in Taufkirchen near Munich provides visitors with interactive experiences and gives an insight into the creative world and work of our in-house studios for digital media.

It is where we demonstrate the link between various sensors such as RFID, QR codes, RadarTouch, Kinect, infra-red camera, touchscreen and database links. Visitors can immerse themselves in the digital world of our media productions and experience them for themselves. We connect an immersive, room-filling projection with interactive elements and a multi-channel sound installation. We also present various options for personalising event experiences for attendees.

Our aim is to show a wide range of interactive applications to demonstrate how they can be utilised for events and congresses, trade fairs, permanent installations and exhibitions.

Your visit should be a source of inspiration showing how various interactive elements can be linked to provide a constant flow of new experiences.

Make an appointment for yourself and your team or together with your client now.
